This is a repository copy of Sediment and particulate carbon removal by pipe erosion increase over time in blanket peatlands as a consequence of land drainage.

White Rose Research Online URL for this paper:
http://eprints.whiterose.ac.uk/1599/

---

Article:
Holden, J. (2006) Sediment and particulate carbon removal by pipe erosion increase over time in blanket peatlands as a consequence of land drainage. Journal of Geophysical Research (Earth Surface), 111 (F2). F02010. ISSN 0148-0227

https://doi.org/10.1029/2005JF000386

---

Reuse
See Attached

Takedown
If you consider content in White Rose Research Online to be in breach of UK law, please notify us by emailing eprints@whiterose.ac.uk including the URL of the record and the reason for the withdrawal request.

http://eprints.whiterose.ac.uk/1599/

Figure 4. Scatterplot of estimated cumulative particulate carbon loss from the peat caused by piping against the age of drainage