

UNIVERSITY OF LEEDS

This is a repository copy of Sediment and particulate carbon removal by pipe erosion increase over time in blanket peatlands as a consequence of land drainage.

White Rose Research Online URL for this paper:
<http://eprints.whiterose.ac.uk/1599/>

---

Article:

Holden, J. (2006) Sediment and particulate carbon removal by pipe erosion increase over time in blanket peatlands as a consequence of land drainage. Journal of Geophysical Research (Earth Surface), 111 (F2). F02010. ISSN 0148-0227

<https://doi.org/10.1029/2005JF000386>

---

Reuse

See Attached

Takedown

If you consider content in White Rose Research Online to be in breach of UK law, please notify us by emailing eprints@whiterose.ac.uk including the URL of the record and the reason for the withdrawal request.

eprints@whiterose.ac.uk
<https://eprints.whiterose.ac.uk/>

Holden, J. (2006) Sediment and particulate carbon removal by pipe erosion increase over time in blanket peatlands as a consequence of land drainage. Journal of Geophysical Research (Earth Surface), 111 (F2). F02010.

<http://eprints.whiterose.ac.uk/1599/>

Figure 3. Scatterplot of mean stream bank pipe diameter against age of drainage

