

Xrossings

Martin Zebracki

Xrossings

Learning across borders

Uncovering the unknown, from one place to another

The perks and perils of what you know and do not know

The more you know, perhaps the less you know

See the dots, connect them, and show the pattern

The standpoint alters them

A space of possibilities

Learning with borders

Writing the unwritten

Opening up new vocabularies of space

Een onbekendheid is een grootheid [The unknown is great]:

X

Martin Zebracki is Professor of Human Geography and Social Inclusion in the School of Geography, University of Leeds. He has published widely on public art, place and identity, and social inclusivity. He is the Chair of the Space, Sexualities and Queer Research Group at the Royal Geographical Society (with IBG).